Book 1

Rainy Day

QU

Raincoat

by Brenna Wood

I slip my yellow raincoat on
And quickly dash outside.
The rain is soaking into the lawn,
But I am still quite dry!

Rainy Day

by Bee Bowers

Three little ducks
Walk out in the rain.
Quack! Quack! Quack!
Each with his
Waterproof feathers
Folded along his back;

Each with his little pink rubbers,
Waddling into town.
Each finds a pond
Of which he is fond
And stands in it upside down!

Book 2

God

KN

He Knocks

by Jenny Phillips

Can you hear
The Savior knocking?
Open the door so wide.
Your home will be
A joyful place
When the Savior dwells inside.

A Door That Opens

by Jenny Phillips

The knob is there for me
On a door that opens wide.
Christ knocks and calls,
So I welcome Him inside.

Book 3

A Child's Prayer

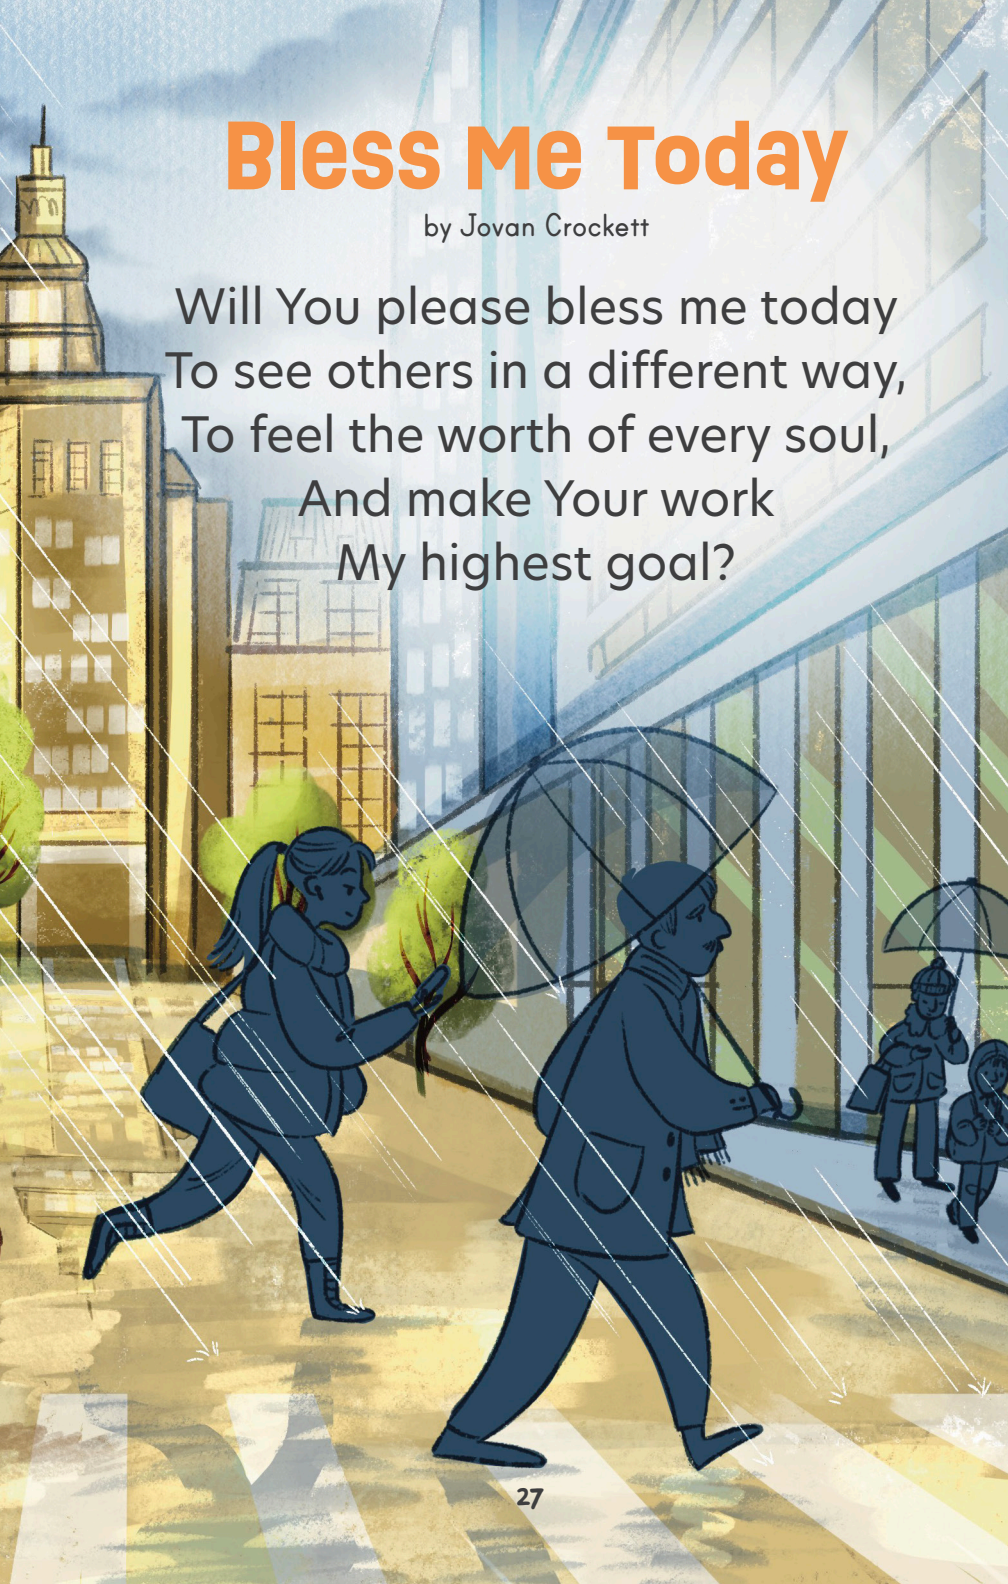

OR Can Say /er/

Bless Me Today

by Jovan Crockett

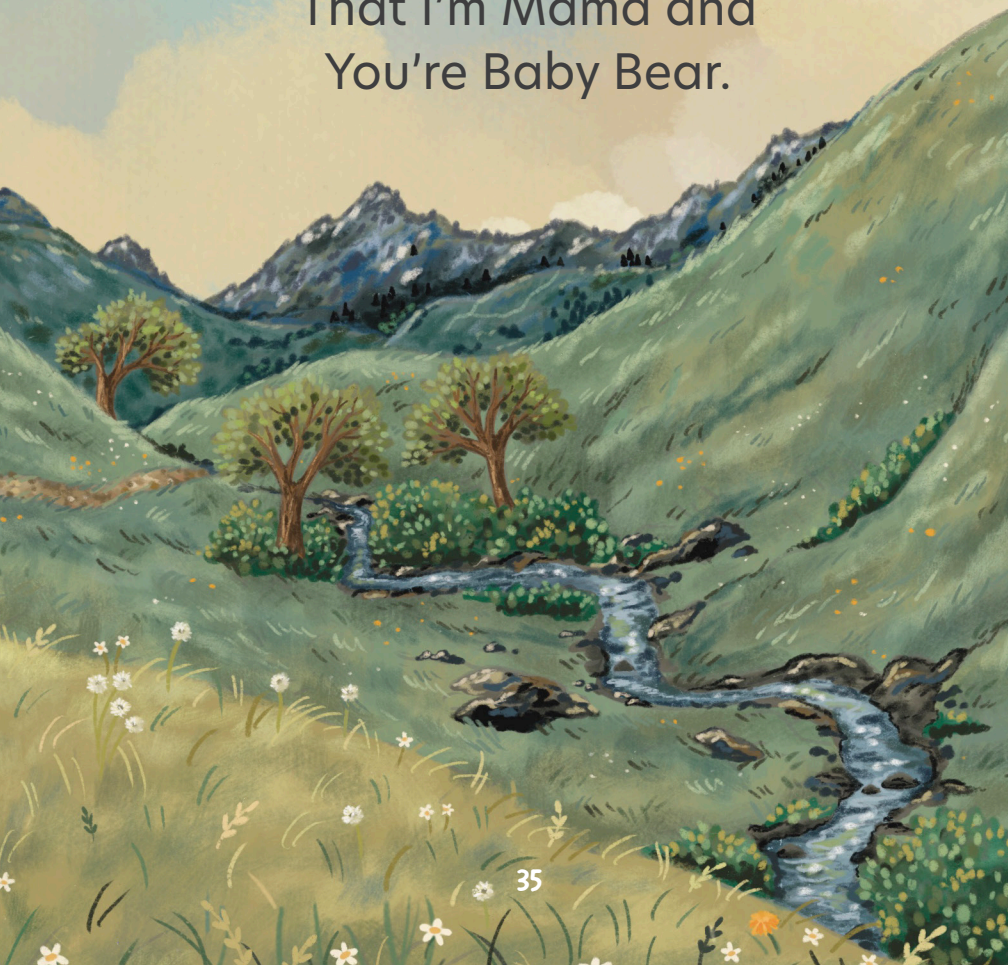

Will You please bless me today
To see others in a different way,
To feel the worth of every soul,
And make Your work
My highest goal?

The Cave

by Julia Rejholec

Sure, I'll go to the river with you!
After breakfast
Let's go straight there.
I know of a cave
Where we can pretend
That I'm Mama and You're Baby Bear.

Rainy Day Song

by Violet Alleyn Storey

The spring rain is soft rain.
The soft rain is sweet
And warm, and falls gently
On each country street.

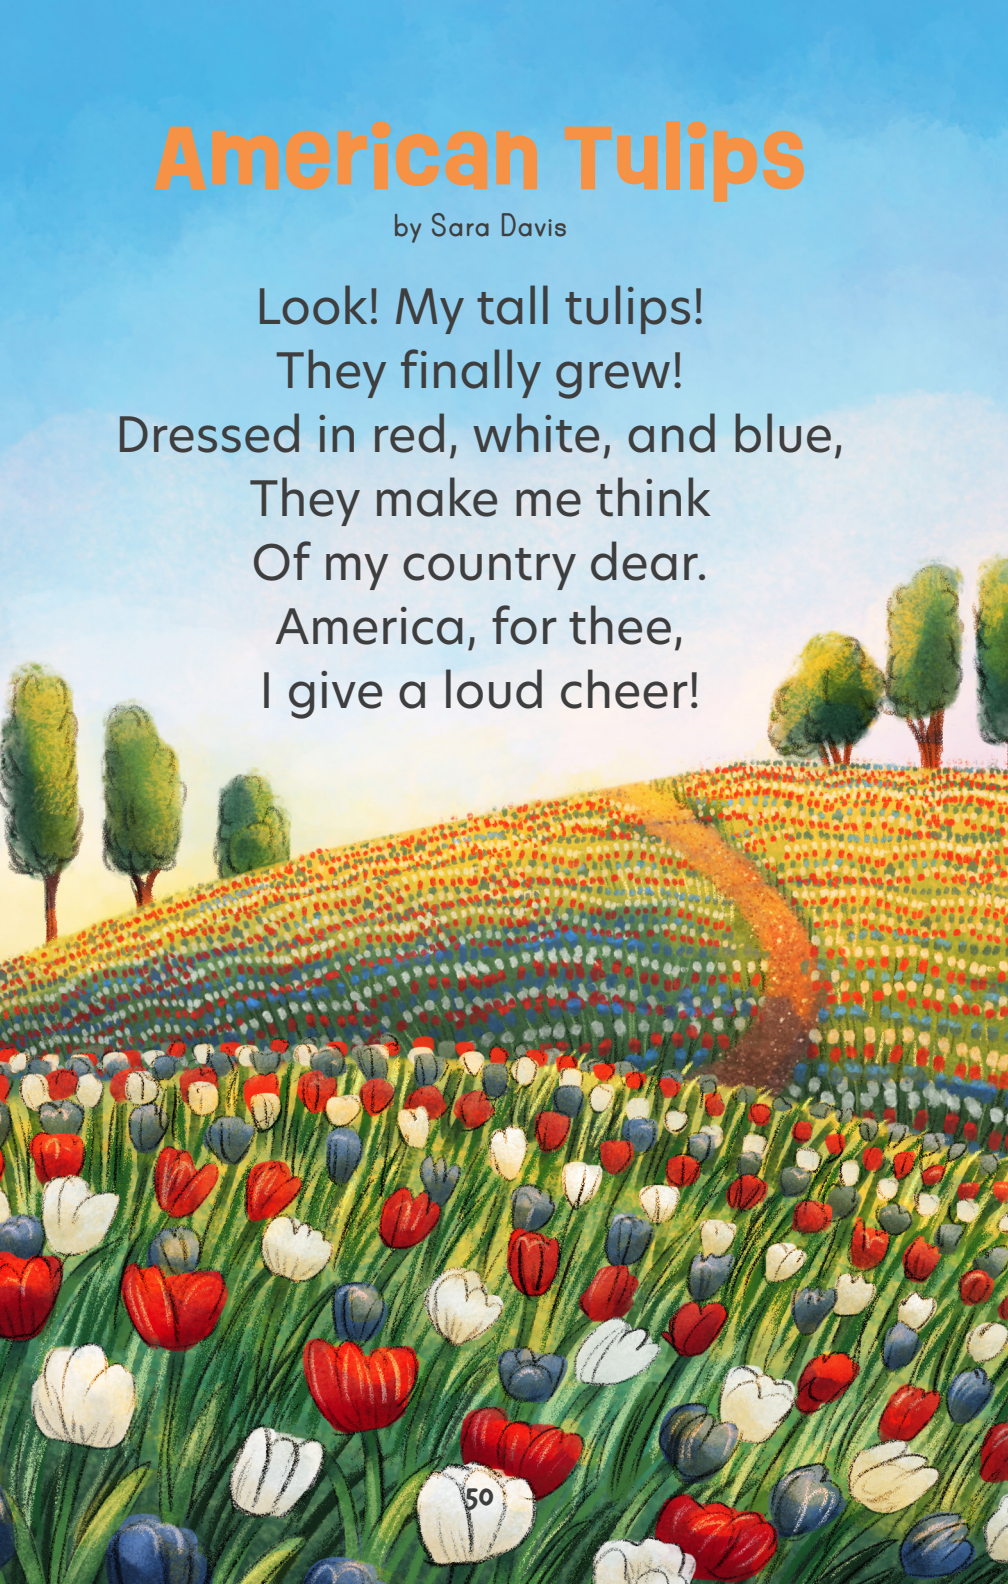

And out in the soft rain,
Pink blossoms now blow;
In sweet rain and warm rain,
Blue violets grow.

American Tulips

by Sara Davis

Look! My tall tulips!
They finally grew!
Dressed in red, white, and blue,
They make me think
Of my country dear.
America, for thee,
I give a loud cheer!

Book 9

Living Things

PH

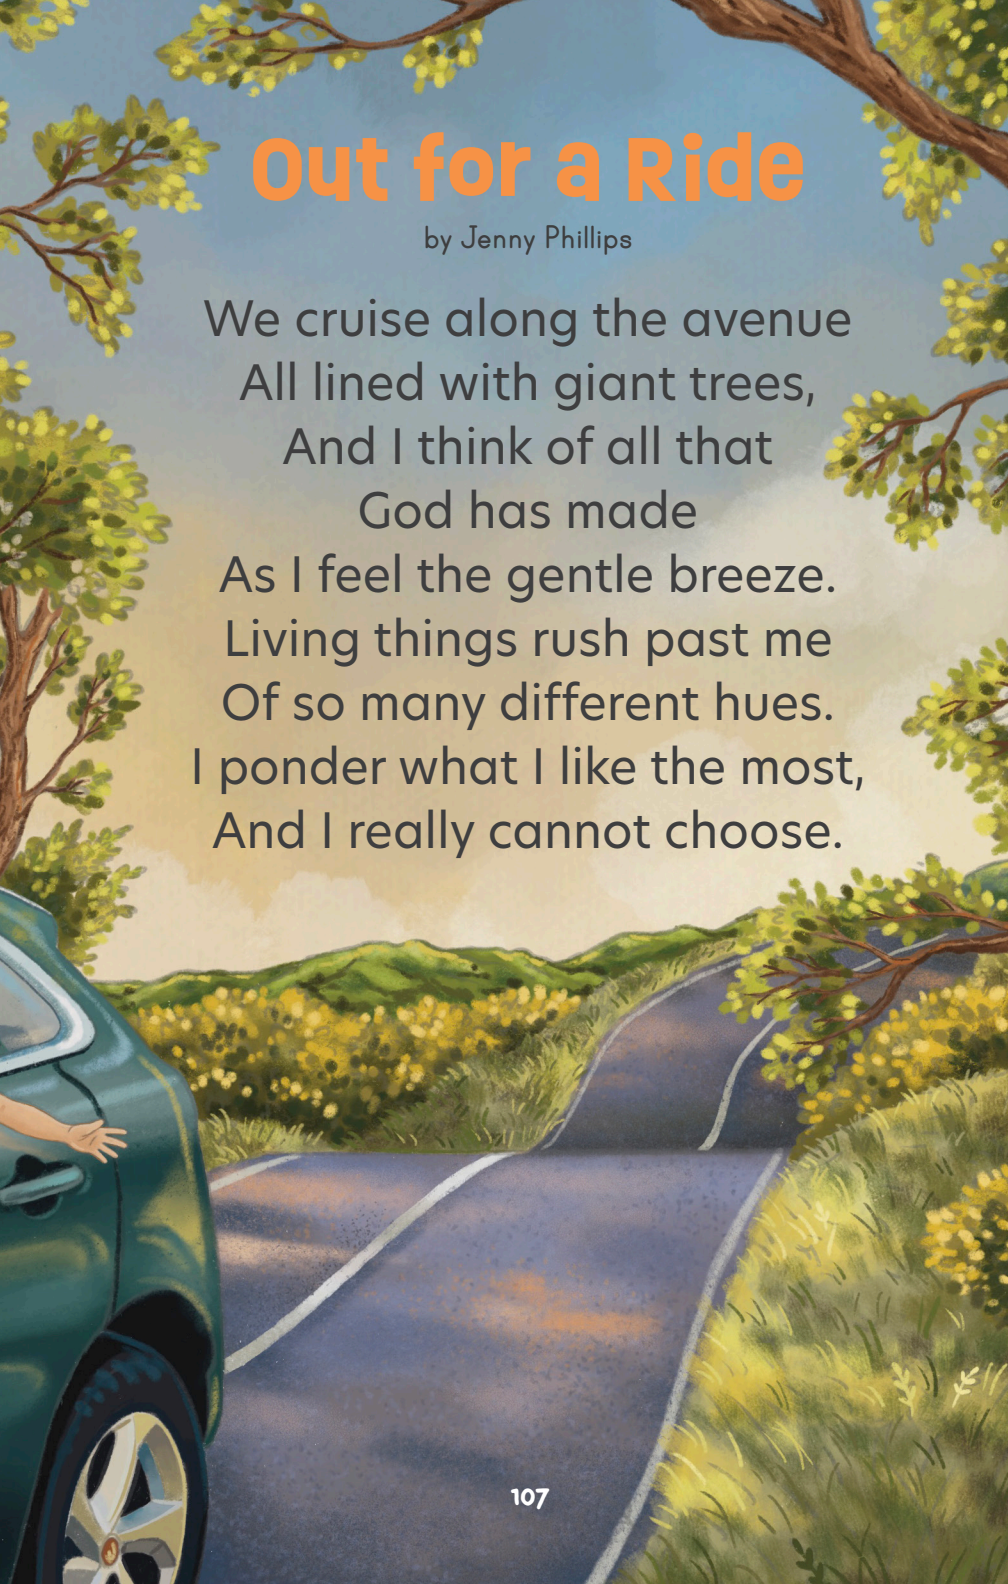

The Grass

by Emily Dickinson

The grass so little has to do,—
A sphere of simple green,
With only butterflies to brood,
And bees to entertain,
And stir all day to pretty tunes
The breezes fetch along,
And hold the sunshine in its lap
And bow to everything.

Out for a Ride

by Jenny Phillips

We cruise along the avenue
All lined with giant trees,
And I think of all that God has made
As I feel the gentle breeze.
Living things rush past me
Of so many different hues.
I ponder what I like the most,
And I really cannot choose.

Oh Wide, Wide World

Excerpt by Alice C.D. Riley

Oh big round world,
Oh wide, wide world,
How wonderful you are.
Your oceans are so very deep,
Your hills reach up so far.

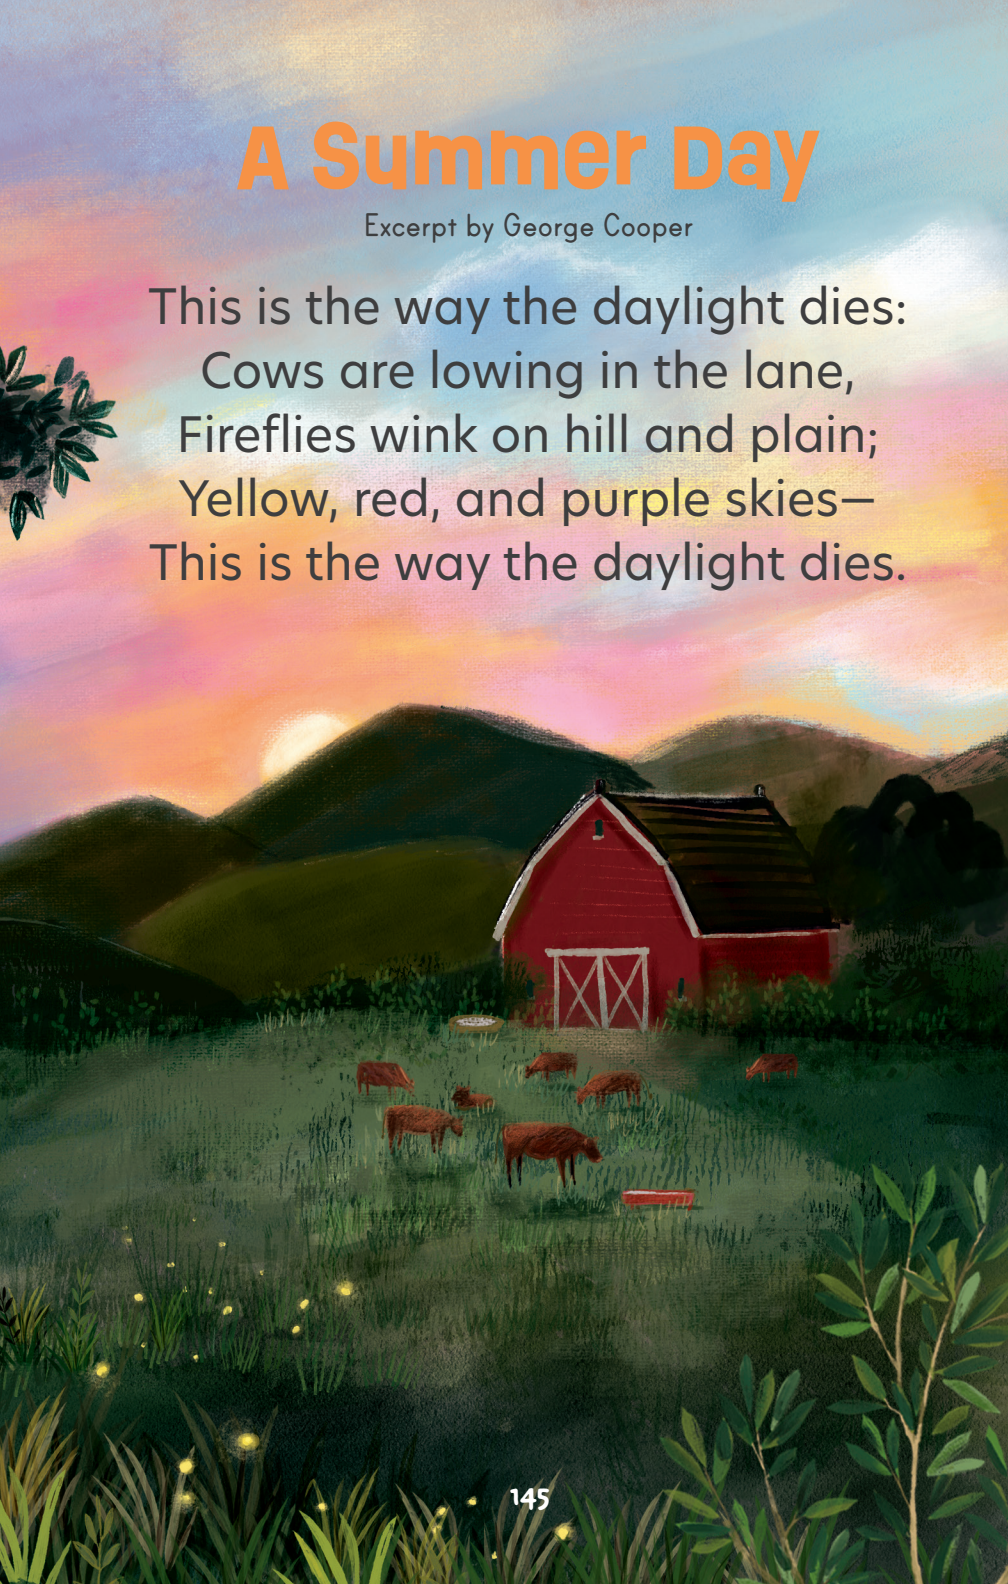

Down thro' your valleys
wide and green,
Such mighty rivers flow.
Upon your great
sky-reaching hills,
Such giant forests grow.

A Summer Day

Excerpt by George Cooper

This is the way the daylight dies:
Cows are lowing in the lane,
Fireflies wink on hill and plain;
Yellow, red, and purple skies—
This is the way the daylight dies.

The Voice of Spring

Excerpt by Mary Howitt

I am coming, I am coming!
Hark! The little bee is humming;
See, the lark is soaring high
In the blue and sunny sky;
And the gnats are on the wing,
Wheeling round in airy ring.

Who Has Seen the Wind?

by Christina Rossetti

Who has seen the wind?
Neither I nor you:
But when the leaves
hang trembling
The wind is passing through.

Who has seen the wind?
Neither you nor I:
But when the trees
bow down their heads
The wind is passing by.
